MISSOULA--

A total of a dozen blind persons will participate in the special fashion show and related activities designed for them Friday, April 29, in Missoula. Altogether, about 50 persons have signed up for the program.

Friday's program, sponsored by the University of Montana Department of Home Economics, will include a dinner at 6 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church, 300 E. Main St. Following the meal, which will be prepared by a UM home economics meal management class, there will be a seminar at the church on new fabrics and clothing styles and the care of clothing.

There will be a shopping session in downtown Missoula for the participants at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Chris Milodragovich, home economics instructor at UM, is faculty coordinator of the program, and Marlene Bachmann, assistant professor of home economics at UM, is in charge of the University meal management class preparing the food for Friday's dinner.

Sara C. Steensland, chairman of the UM home economics department, will present welcoming remarks at Friday's fashion program.
